

November 2005..v2

Brightest Blessings & Warmest Wishes!

There's only one more month left till this year of events is over! I feel that it's only best to make preparation for 2006 now as many celebrations will be non-stop for the month of December till the New Year. Looking back, one can say that it's been a most memorable year for both the good and bad... which is why this coming year I will dedicate to reclaiming power. It's not worth investing time in anything if the fruit of your savings amounts to nothing. So, over the next 12 months I many of my sites themes will be concentrating on empowerment, spiritual growth, spells and more active involvement from the community.

Lastly, every month I get hundreds of questions from trouble shooting spells to general concerns about spiritual directions in which one should take.. Many of these queries and the guidance that I've given can help others and perhaps allow me to answer more if others had the answers as a reference to avoid the redundancy from time to time.. Starting this month I will post views questions and the solutions to for all to learn from. Confidentiality will always be a high priority! See "Ask Mona"!

...let the Prophecies be told!

Hurricanes, floods, earthquakes - what's left in the world for disasters? Let's examine some of the both past and present prophecies and look in to what it all means to you. Read more...

Ask Mona!

Q: I've been having the worse luck you can imagine! Is there a good luck charm, can I use to get rid of all this bad karma?

A: They used to say that the rabbits foot was good to carry for good luck...I always thought that it was never lucky for the Rabbit! However one can agree when considering the source in which the Good Luck Charm or Talisman has come from can make a world of difference! This is true when you consider the

Purification - The Base of Power

There's a tried and true method to retailers across the world always planning ahead of time months before each season begins. Even more - it makes more sense to practice such methods as the same tactics with the changing of seasons and animals hibernating or migrating in due course but never at the last minute such as we humans do at the stroke of midnight 31st of December!

With the holiday's coming up you've several rituals that will be done; prosperity, weight loss, habit breaking banishing, blessing oriented, and love spells, only to name a few. So why not plan NOW (or at least the preparation) than to be in a rush by the New Year. Why not go into the new year with the proper energy rather than opening up the New Year source from which it was charged from. Most charms are "charged" for a specific purpose (as most items may be chosen lieu of their correspondence) thereby channeling the intent through the item resulting in the desired effect. Of course there are many pieces into the puzzle of making a charm to bring about luck just as any ritual or spell. As for the cause and effect from your karma a simple charm is only a tip of the ice berg!

Banishing an Adversary

"Purification" my the theme for this month of November, this also includes clearing up problems, situations and people that insist to make making your life miserable. Sometimes it's not the adversary that should leave but it is

"you" that should remove yourself from a very bad situation!!! Make sure you have examined all options before performing any spell!

To rid of someone who harasses you incessantly, dress a white candle with olive oil. Take a square piece of unused brown paper and write the name the adversary on it. Underneath the person's name, write your wish that the person fade out of your life totally. Apply some pine oil on the four corners of the paper and also upon the person's name. Cross out your adversary's name nine times with a pencil. Set the brown paper aright from the candle and put it in a heat proof dish. Allow the paper to burn completely. Wrap up the remains, and put them in the earth (away from your place of residence)..

with last years baggage as so many do each year.

If you are to have the power within you it is now to purify yourself of the negative energy that's kept you from attaining your desires.
